

Atlanta Metropolitan State College Partners with Workforce Edge to Provide Partners with a Wide Range of Degree Options

ATLANTA, GA (May 2024) –Atlanta Metropolitan State College (AMSC) has announced a partnership with Workforce Edge, a full-service education benefits administration solution powered by Strategic Education, Inc. Workforce Edge partner employees will now have access to a catalog of AMSC degree offerings, enabling them to choose from several qualifying options. AMSC is the first Predominantly Black Institution (PBI) to join the Workforce Edge network.

“We are extremely excited about our new engagement with Strategic Education Inc. through the Workforce Edge Network,” said Thompson-Sellers, President of AMSC. “This partnership will allow Atlanta Metropolitan State College to work with employers who are committed to developing skilled and qualified workers to bridge the workforce employment gap. At AMSC we strive to build a strong community focused on providing high quality educational opportunities and positive experiences for everyone who comes to us, while being fully engaged in the communities that we serve.”

AMSC, an access institution of the University System of Georgia, offers courses in business administration, computer science, humanities, fine arts, science, mathematics, health professions, and social sciences. AMSC’s mission is to educate students from diverse backgrounds by providing affordable, career-focused bachelor’s and associate degree programs.

“We are excited to expand our Workforce Edge network with the addition of our first PBI partner and their high-quality degree and certificate programs,” said Karl McDonnell, CEO of Strategic Education. “This collaboration builds on prior initiatives Strategic Education has established with minority-serving institutions to provide greater flexibility and resources that meet all students’ educational needs. This partnership with AMSC will be a great addition for employers looking for PBI options to upskill and reskill their workforce.”

AMSC will offer several degree options to Workforce Edge partners, including those affiliated with film and entertainment industry organizations in the Atlanta area. These programs include:

- Certificate in Information Technology
- Certificate in Cybersecurity
- Certificate in Business Management
- Bachelor in Organization Leadership
- Bachelor of Business Administration
- Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Film and Entertainment
- Certificate in Film and Television Post- Production
- Certificate in Film and Television Production
- Certificate in Customer Relationship Management
- Bachelor in Biological Science

About Atlanta Metropolitan State College

Atlanta Metropolitan State College, an access institution of the University System of Georgia, educates students from diverse backgrounds by providing affordable, career-focused bachelor's and associate degree programs. The College offers student-centered instruction, civic/community engagement, and quality services that lead to the success of its intergenerational 21st century graduates.